

Good Morning to All

*Good morning to you
Good morning to you,
Good morning, dear children.
Good morning to all*

Patty and Mildred Hill, 1893

- 1) Practice bowings with slurs.
- 2) What's a Fermata? How long should we hold it?
- 3) By touch, we can easily find the C Natural, close to 1st fingers E and B.
This is not Fox Hand (It's "Tea"), but we'll make an exception!

** How can we change this piece to make it sound more "Happy?"
What would that Rhythm look like?

Fun Fact:

While "Good Morning to All" is in the Public Domain, "Happy Birthday" is a hotly disputed, copyrighted work, and still the subject of court battles.
